

Centros Hombres Por una Vida sin Violencia — Chile's High-Volume, Largely Unevaluated Perpetrator-Counselling Network

Gender Equality · Good practice · Chile

Quality score: 26/100

Evidence strength: Cautionary / limited

Summary

Since 2012, Chile's SernamEG has run 15 re-education centres nationwide for men who exercise intimate-partner violence. Over 5,000 men have enrolled, but published analyses report only 9% programme completion and no formal effectiveness evaluation.

Key dimensions

Dimension	Score
Transferability / replicability	1/3
Impact on gender equality	0/1
Effectiveness	0/1
Efficiency	0/1
Evaluated outcomes	0/1
Sustainability	1/1
Achievement / evidence	0/1
Gender-mainstreaming embedding	1/1
Curator validation	0/1

Evaluated by C-NAPSE

Data sources

C-NAPSE web research — accessed 2026-09-15

Servicio Nacional de la Mujer y la Equidad de Género \(SernamEG\) — accessed 2026-09-15

Universidad Santo Tomás — 'Centros de Hombres: una herramienta para combatir la violencia de género' — accessed 2026-09-15

SciELO — academic analysis of Latin American perpetrator-intervention programmes — accessed 2026-09-15

SernamEG — official programme page — accessed 2026-09-15

Cite this — Evidoria. Centros Hombres Por una Vida sin Violencia — Chile's High-Volume, Largely Unevaluated Perpetrator-Counselling Network. Persistent ID: 8b9ded7e-f77a-4109-83c1-cde83daf44be.