

Kenya's National ICT Accessibility Standard (KS 2952) — Africa's First

Digital Inclusion · Good practice · Kenya

Quality score: 56/100

Evidence strength: Moderate

Summary

Kenya Bureau of Standards, working with disability NGO inABLE and government regulators, gazetted KS 2952 in 2022 — Africa's first national ICT accessibility standard covering hardware and software across public and private sectors.

Key dimensions

Dimension	Score
Innovation level	4/5
Sustainability (ongoing)	1/1
Evaluation evidence	0/1
Demonstrated reach	0/1
Documented learning	1/1

Evaluated by C-NAPSE

Data sources

C-NAPSE web research — accessed 2026-08-20

Kenya Bureau of Standards \(KEBS\), with inABLE, the National Council for Persons with Disabilities, the Communications Authority of Kenya and the ICT Authority — accessed 2026-08-20

inABLE announcement — accessed 2026-08-20

G3ict partnership coverage — accessed 2026-08-20

Techweez coverage — accessed 2026-08-20

Cite this — Evidoria. Kenya's National ICT Accessibility Standard (KS 2952) — Africa's First. Persistent ID: 14b6eb71-aacb-4b63-be72-e3c053023bae.