

New Tech Institut Bangui — Students Build an AI Quiz-Tutor and AI-Assisted Robots at a Central African Republic School Showcase

AI in Education · Good practice · Central African Republic

Quality score: 13/100

Evidence strength: Cautionary / limited

Summary

At a February 2025 school science fair in Bangui, a Central African Republic secondary student built "IACG," an interactive AI quiz-tutor, while classmates built AI-assisted robots — a rare grassroots AI-literacy showcase in one of the world's least digitally connected countries.
