

PRIA-MA — Spain's National Cognitive-Behavioural Programme for Convicted Intimate-Partner-Violence Offenders

Gender Equality · Good practice · Spain

Quality score: 85/100

Evidence strength: Strong

Summary

Spain's national CBT group programme for men convicted of gender-violence offences serving community sentences. 8,843 offenders began PRIA-MA in 2022 (+13% YoY); studies found reduced sexist attitudes and 6.3% recidivism among completers vs 11.7% among dropouts.

Key dimensions

Dimension	Score
Transferability / replicability	2/3
Impact on gender equality	1/1
Effectiveness	1/1
Efficiency	0/1
Evaluated outcomes	1/1
Sustainability	1/1
Achievement / evidence	1/1
Gender-mainstreaming embedding	1/1
Curator validation	1/1

Evaluated by C-NAPSE

Data sources

C-NAPSE web research — accessed 2026-09-03

Secretaría General de Instituciones Penitenciarias \(Ministerio del Interior\) — accessed 2026-09-03

Ministerio de Igualdad — Informe anual violencia de género 2022 \(cap. 12, Instituciones Penitenciarias\) — accessed 2026-09-03

Alarcón Delicado \(2023\), REC: Revista Electrónica de Criminología — cohort evaluation — accessed 2026-09-03

Pérez Ramírez, Giménez-Salinas Framís & de Juan Espinosa \(2013\), Psychosocial Intervention — controlled evaluation — accessed 2026-09-03

Cite this — Evidoria. PRIA-MA — Spain's National Cognitive-Behavioural Programme for Convicted Intimate-Partner-Violence Offenders. Persistent ID: 976974aa-0793-4852-b281-a4a267f0fda0.