

Vulcan Coalition — Employing People with Disabilities to Label and Train AI Datasets

Digital Inclusion · Good practice · Thailand

Quality score: 72/100

Evidence strength: Strong

Summary

A Bangkok company employs and trains people with disabilities, including deaf staff, to label and train AI/ML datasets on its own data-labeling platform, putting disabled workers inside AI production rather than only building tools for them.

Key dimensions

Dimension	Score
Innovation level	3/5
Sustainability (ongoing)	1/1
Evaluation evidence	1/1
Demonstrated reach	1/1
Documented learning	0/1

Evaluated by C-NAPSE

Data sources

C-NAPSE web research — accessed 2026-08-30

Vulcan Coalition Co., Ltd. — accessed 2026-08-30

Microsoft Stories Asia — Vulcan Coalition AI jobs — accessed 2026-08-30

Thoughtworks Thailand — Improving access to work through AI — accessed 2026-08-30

Cite this — Evidoria. Vulcan Coalition — Employing People with Disabilities to Label and Train AI Datasets. Persistent ID: 5b147542-a22f-4efc-b234-d3edc1ff1414.