

Women and Girls Safe Spaces (WGSS) — Syria Crisis Response

Gender Equality · Good practice · Syria

Quality score: 63/100

Evidence strength: Moderate

Summary

Since 2013, UNFPA and partners have run a growing network of Women and Girls Safe Spaces across Syria, scaling from 36 sites in 2015 to 67 by December 2019, delivering GBV case management, reproductive health care and literacy training to tens of thousands of women each year.

Key dimensions

Dimension	Score
Transferability / replicability	2/3
Impact on gender equality	1/1
Effectiveness	1/1
Efficiency	0/1
Evaluated outcomes	0/1
Sustainability	0/1
Achievement / evidence	1/1
Gender-mainstreaming embedding	1/1
Curator validation	1/1

Evaluated by C-NAPSE

Data sources

C-NAPSE web research — accessed 2026-07-17

UNFPA \(United Nations Population Fund\) — accessed 2026-07-17

OCHA — Syria Humanitarian Fund: safe space for women and girls — accessed 2026-07-17

UNFPA — Safe spaces provide more protection — accessed 2026-07-17

UN News — accessed 2026-07-17

ReliefWeb — WGSS Guidance Note — accessed 2026-07-17

Cite this — Evidoria. Women and Girls Safe Spaces (WGSS) — Syria Crisis Response. Persistent ID: 7ccdae13-8fbf-477a-b9bc-d81bdf8854e0.